OUR SPA BRANDS

Redefining luxury in beauty and wellness, Raffles Spa uses Biologique Recherche and ISUN brands to deliver the ultimate in spa treatments and experiences for our discerning clientèle.

ISUN

Founded by Bunnie Gulick since 2007, ISUN provides an extensive premium line of products created for spa and retail. They are featured in leading spas in the US and other spa resorts around the world. The company consciously formulates and manufactures transformative, skin-awakening creations with radiantly alive, wild crafted and organic ingredients, inspired by a true intention to offer total wellbeing.

The hand-crafted, high-performance skincare products are made with pure ingredients teeming with nutrients and kept alive with cold-processing. Natural plant ingredients used in the products are chosen for their regenerating, anti-inflammatory, antioxidant, purifying and moisture-balancing benefits for great, younger- looking skin.

ISUN also formulates, manufacture and package products by hand and uses water drawn from the pristine San Juan Mountains of Colorado.

Ingredients are carefully combined by hand and with loving care, are transformed into exquisite, skin- awakening and comprehensive range of products used across massage, body and facial treatments.

BIOLOGIQUE RECHERCHE

Biologique Recherche was founded in 1978 as a cosmetics research lab by biologist Yvan Allouche and his wife Josette, a physiotherapist. At first, the brand functioned as a scientific development laboratory whose sole vocation was to develop formulations for professionals dissatisfied with existing products.

Since then, with their son Dr. Philippe Allouche as the brand's Creative Director, Biologique Recherche has transformed into a pharmaceutical icon of the global fashion and beauty industries. Allouche's background in internal medicine informed his more holistic approach to the science of beauty and skincare. Together, Yvan, Josette and Philippe combined their expertise and passion to write a unique and visionary page in the history of skin care.

Today, the Biologique Recherche Methodology has a reputation for astounding effectiveness based on a clinical approach to beauty care using intentionally pure, concentrated, raw ingredients, as well as innovative and meticulous protocols and procedures.
